

ProCredit Bank Bulgaria is a development-oriented bank which operates according to the principles of environmental and social responsibility. It is part of the international ProCredit group, which is based in Frankfurt Germany and operates in Eastern Europe, as well as in Germany and South America. All ProCredit banks strive to be the house bank for small and medium-sized enterprises, and for depositors who identify with our business model.

ProCredit Bank is currently seeking a qualified candidate for the position of Risk Quantification and Data Handling Expert.

As a Risk Quantification and Data Handling Expert, you will:

- Actively support the further development and/or validation of internal models for quantifying credit risk and input parameters;
- Autonomously manage data sets required for input parameters;
- Assist in various analyses in the area of credit risk controlling;
- Autonomously manage projects related to credit risk quantification, including data infrastructure and quality;
- Actively support the credit risk management team in the continuous development and optimisation of credit risk controlling processes;
- Report regularly to the Management board.

Key requirements:

- Degree in Statistics/Finance/Economics or other quantitative field (Mathematics, Financial Engineering etc.);
- Excellent command of English language (spoken and written);
- Good knowledge of econometric and statistical methods for cross-sectional and panel data and mathematical methods applied in credit risk management;
- Experience with empirical analyses of cross-sectional and panel data, also within a project;
- Experience in the efficient handling and management of large data sets, databases and warehouses would be an advantage;
- Basic knowledge of SQL and Java would be an advantage;
- Preferably, knowledge of credit risk (PD and LGD) modelling;
- Experience in the banking and financial services industry would be an advantage.

If you would like to join our team at ProCredit Bank, you can expect an intercultural, dynamic and challenging work environment where ethics and professional standards do not just exist on paper. You will be part of an institution where your opinion will be valued, your efforts will be appreciated and you will have the chance to play a crucial role in the long-term development of our operations.

Application documents to be provided:

- Curriculum vitae (CV)
- Motivation Letter

Shortlisted candidates will be contacted and invited for an interview.

careers@procreditbank.bg